

WEEKLY REPUBLICAN—1887.
DAILY PUBLIC LEDGER—1892.

MAYSVILLE, KY., THURSDAY, MARCH 17, 1904.

ONE COPY—ONE CENT.

PURE PERSEIAN.
Women go to cooking clubs.
And always hire a cook.
People go to reading clubs.
And never buy a book.
Women go to sewing clubs.
And never make a seam.
People join the writing clubs.
And never spoil a ream.
People go to golfing clubs.
And never find the tee.
People lead in boating clubs.
Who never see the sea.
People join athletic clubs.
And still their strength is weak.
People in debating clubs.
Are seldom known to speak.
People in amusement clubs.
Declare this life a bore.
Those in peace-proucing clubs.
Are always out for gore.
Those who fill the singing clubs.
Are destitute of song—
That's the look of all the clubs
To one who can't belong.

—Judge.

New that spring is about due and housecleaning time is here, how would it do in the general renovation to paint the face of the "Goddess of Liberty Enlightening the World" that adorns the Market Street Esplanade? It would not be amiss to have the water turned on in order that the old lady might take an occasional bath, for she now has an awful dirty and bedraggled appearance. It was erected as a fountain, then why not use it for the purpose it was intended?

AFTER FIVE MONTHS

Child Coughed Up Cartridge Shell That Had Lodged in Throat

Some five months ago a four-year-old child of Rev. Mr. James, colored, of the county, swallowed an empty copper cartridge of the size of a 32 caliber revolver, lodging in the wind pipe.

The child was brought to the office of Dr. A. N. Ellis in this city, and that experienced surgeon and physician had charge of the case for several days endeavoring to expel or dislodge it.

The best that could be done under the circumstances—the parents were not willing for the child to undergo a surgical operation—was to relieve it of its suffering and cause it to breathe more freely; this it did.

The patient was taken home and its death looked for in a short space of time. Contrary to expectations it lingered on, coughing frequently and becoming emaciated and weak.

Some days ago it had a more severe coughing fit than usual, and while in one of these paroxysms dislodged the foreign substance and spit it out. The child is getting along nicely and soon will have recovered from the ill effects it underwent.

In many respects it is a wonderful case.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Portsmouth Blade.

Mr. J. D. Bridges' annual banquet to the wholesale grocers of the city was an event of Monday evening at his home in West Sixth street. Sixteen fine looking gentlemen, including the genial Mr. W. A. Murdock of Ironton, surrounded a most beautifully appointed table. The center of attraction was a pyramid of lighted candles, revealing the secret of a birthday; we won't say how many candles towered in the pyramid, but the pleasure was great enough to celebrate any number of birthdays. The war element was represented in the ice cream, which was served in the form of Japanese men bearing the American Flag, but the Americans at the table turned traitors and gobbled up the Japs, which caused much merriment.
